2023-24 Winter Day-Use Pass Statistics Roundup

Day-use passes are used at select BC Parks to help manage visitors during peak periods. Throughout the winter season, December through March, Mount Seymour Park requires visitors to book a day-use pass. This ensures adequate parking spaces for those not using the Mount Seymour Resort facilities, keeping backcountry access available for BC Parks visitors.

This report provides an overview of day-use pass reservation trends for Mount Seymour Park during the 2023-24 winter season. BC Parks is committed to delivering this data on a seasonal reporting cycle.

MOUNT SEYMOUR PARK DAY-USE PASS REQUIREMENTS 2023-24

BC Parks is committed to analyzing the use of day-use passes and shifting requirements to meet visitor needs. Day-use pass data from 2021-22 and 2022-23 showed that Mount Seymour Park was not busy enough on weekdays from January through March to require a pass. On weekdays, parking spaces were widely available and reports of crowding were minimal. However, on peak weekends, especially after fresh snowfall, the parking lots continued to fill.

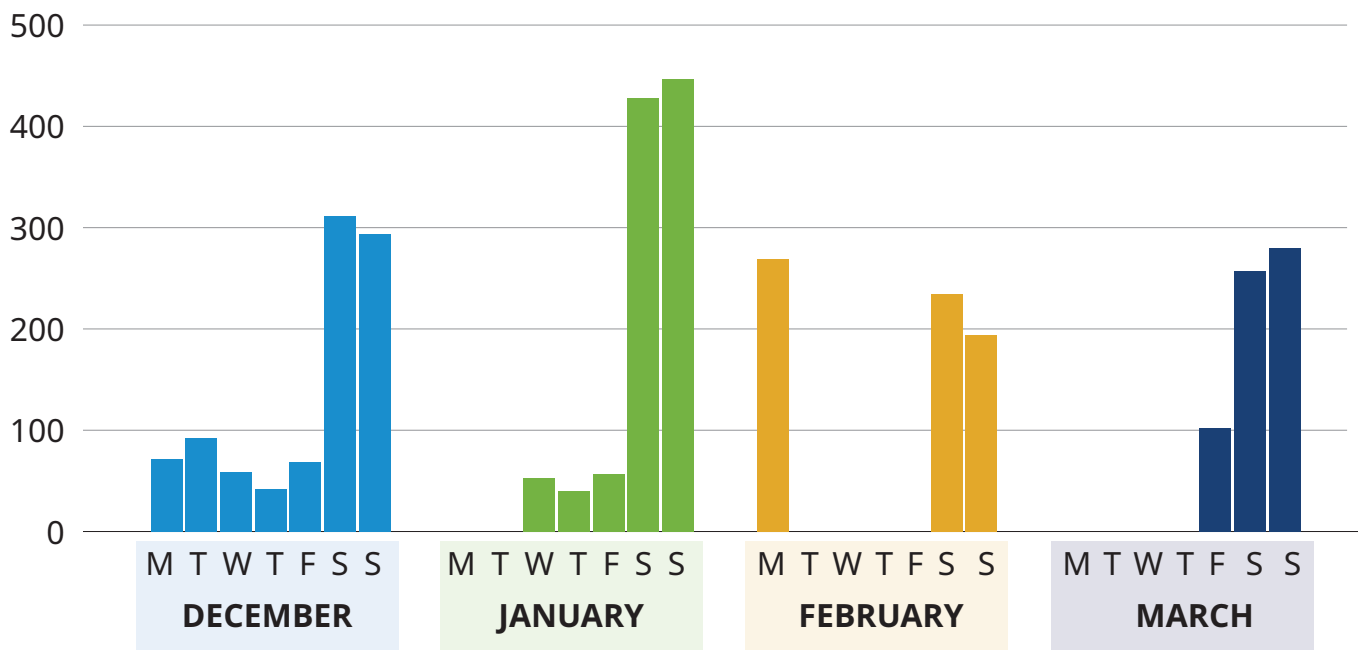

In response to this data, BC Parks shifted the requirement for day-use passes at Mount Seymour Park. In the winter of 2023-24, passes were required seven days a week from December 14 to January 7, then reduced to weekends and holidays until March 31, 2024. In previous years, passes were required seven days a week throughout the entire winter season.
